Florida to Honor Inness, Senior

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Tarpon Springs, Fla., April 20.—Plans have been completed here for honoring the one hundred anniversary of George Inness, famous landscape artist, who lived for many years in this city, on the afternoon of May 1.

The plans include the erection of a tablet on the site presented to the trustees of the fund for the erection of an Inness Memorial, a vocal and musical program and speeches by several orators of state and national fame, to be followed by a banquet.

Mr. Inness, who died in Scotland in 1894, while on a visit abroad, is succeeded, in the high plane of art he reached, by his son, George Inness, Jr., painter of "The Only Hope," which has been placed on exhibition in Washington, and in which Edward W. Bok and Irving T. Bush are very much interested as a part of their peace-plan propaganda.

Tells Tale of Being Drugged

William Cole Says He Went in Mazuka's Place on Murray Street for Whiskey — Drink Was Drugged, He Says—Mazuka Arrested.

William Cole of No. 271 Second avenue was seized with a chill Saturday morning and decided that a drink of whiskey might cure it. He obtained a drink of some kind. He appeared at police headquarters this morning and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Frank Mazuka of No. 106 Murray street.

According to Cole's story at the time he obtained the warrant, he had entered the "drinking parlor" on Murray street and stated to Mazuka that he had a chill and thought a drink of whiskey might cure it. He said Mazuka served him with a drink for which he paid 25 cents. Then Mazuka treated and Cole followed suit.

He said that while he drank all of the third glass, Mazuka just touched his lips with his glass and sat his glass down on the bar. Cole said that as he sat in his chair he suddenly became dizzy but before he became unconscious he found that Mazuka was going through his pockets.

Cole said that Mazuka took $25 from his pocketbook from his hip pocket and $3 in money from another pocket and that was the last he remembered. He said Mazuka then took him home in his car.

Cole accompanied Officers Harnen, Simpson and Fatum to the Murray street place and pointed out Mazuka as the man who had robbed him and Mazuka was placed under arrest.

Later in the morning Judge Harry E. Schirick in police court adjourned the hearing to Friday morning to give Mazuka an opportunity to retain a lawyer and fixed bail at $3,000.

Master Barbers May Work Alone

Members of Barbers' Union Want Increased Wages and Shorter Day—May Strike Unless Demands Are Met.

The master barbers of the city are spending a rather restless day as they ply their razors and shears. It is rumored that after today the master barbers will have to work alone unless they listen to the members of the local barber's union who are demanding more money and shorter hours. Some time ago the local served notice on the master barbers that they would demand more money and set $30 a week as the price, in addition they ask for a shortening of the working day an hour with shops closing Saturday nights at 10 o'clock instead of 11 as at present.

A half day once a week is also asked. What action the master barbers will take cannot be said but it is understood that they have offered a substantial increase to the workmen. It is rumored that they have offered $28 a week to keep the men on the job but the men demand the two additional dollars.

At a special meeting of the union held this evening it is expected that the matter will be discussed and at that time the men may decide to go out on strike unless their demands are met. If the demands are not met and a strike is declared for Tuesday morning it will mean that the master or boss barbers will have to struggle along alone until the differences are adjusted.

Drunkenness Less Under Liquor Law

Province of Quebec, Canada, Finds 50 Per Cent in Convictions Since Liquor Law Was Passed—Province Realizes $12,400,000 Profit in Three Years.

Fewer arrests and increased revenue were cited as the proofs of the moral and financial success of the Quebec liquor law by L. D. Cordeau, head of the liquor commission for the Province of Quebec, who gave figures just before he sailed yesterday on the French liner France for Havre, says the New York Times of Sunday. Commissioner Cordeau, accompanied by members of his family, is going abroad for a brief vacation. Commenting on the liquor situation in Canada, he said:

"The Quebec liquor law, which is now in the fourth year of operation, has been an unqualified success, both from the moral and social and financial viewpoint. Official statistics show that convictions for indictable offenses 1918-19-20, the three years preceding the Quebec liquor law, averaged 120 per 100,000 population; while for the three years 1921-22-23, on the same basis, convictions have been only 114.

"Figures as regards convictions for drunkenness are even more striking. In 1920, convictions were 525 per 100,000. They were 425 in 1921, 300 in 1922 and 267 in 1923. I believe these few figures are convincing proof of the moral success of the Quebec liquor law.

"As to the financial aspect, sales for the first three years have totaled $54,724,355, out of which the sum of $19,144,343 was paid to the federal government on account of customs and excise duties, while at the same time, we turned over to the Quebec government the sum of $12,462,869 in profits, besides accumulating out of our earnings a working capital and reserve of $1,900,000 in round figures. I do not believe many government-owned commercial ventures are in a position to show such favorable results.

"Except for the criticism of the extreme prohibitionist element, and a small group of politicians, I can say that the Quebec liquor law is at the present time endorsed or at least sympathetically looked on by the population of the whole province; this single fact naturally accounts largely for the great measure of success it has attained. No law can work well against the will of the majority or an important minority of the population to which it applies."

Small Boy Killed On Hurley Ave.

Automobile of Maurice Rice, Driven by His Son, Struck Frederick J. Van Wagenen, Four Years Old—Second Child Victim of Motor Car Within a Week.

The second death of a child to occur within a week by reason of an automobile accident in this vicinity occurred Saturday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock when Frederick J., the four year old son of Joseph and Viola Van Wagenen of 194 Hurley avenue, was struck by an automobile of Maurice H. Rice of No. 22 West Pierpont street and so severely injured that he died before he could be rushed to the hospital. The car was being driven by John Rice, the 12 year old son of the owner of the car.

Mr. Rice, with his son at the wheel, was proceeding toward Kingston in the sedan car. When near the junction of Hurley avenue and Snyder avenue, where the roadway is composed of a twenty foot strip of concrete with a dirt strip on either side, the little lad was struck. He was playing on the right hand side of the road on the dirt strip. A car coming toward Mr. Rice caused the driver of the car to swing to the right hand side of the road to allow the approaching car to pass. Just what happened is not definitely known but the child was struck by the right hand side of the Rice car and knocked down. Whether the boy became confused at the approach of the two cars and ran into the roadway and was struck by the car will be determined when witnesses are examined before Coroner Conner on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock when a coroner's inquest will be conducted at the court house.

The Rice car was pulled over sharply into Snyder avenue and stopped after the accident. Mr. Rice rushed to the assistance of the child and seeing that he was severely injured placed him in his car and hastened with him to the Kingston City Hospital. The boy was dead when the hospital was reached. His skull had been fractured.

The accident was reported to the police and an investigation was immediately begun. Coroner Conner with the police officials and F. C. Merritt, representing the district attorney's office, visited the scene and interviewed witnesses. Photographs of the scene were also made shortly after the accident.

Coroner Conner took charge of the body and the funeral will be held from the home of the boy's parents on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, with interment in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

After an investigation of the matter Coroner Conner caused Mr. Rice to be held under $3,000 bond on a charge of manslaughter pending the outcome of the inquest. Mr. Rice provided the necessary bail.

An autopsy was performed by Dr. F. A. Johnston and Dr. E. E. Norwood.

Plates Must Be Clearly Visible

Motor Vehicle Inspectors to Start Drive Against Persons Operating Cars With Obstructed License Plates—Will Enforce Headlight Law.

An active campaign against persons operating motor vehicles with dirty or obstructed license plates is to be conducted by the motor vehicle inspectors. Numerous warnings have been given and this has failed to put an end to the practice of hiding plates behind bumpers and spare tires, or allowing them to become covered with mud. Arrests will be made in the future of persons apprehended for this violation of the motor vehicle law. Inspector Von Bergen, local examiner and officers working out of this city, is determined to have all plates in plain sight and will make arrests of all violators.

Plates must be free from dirt and in plain sight so that they may be seen from a reasonable distance. Persons who have plates hid behind bumpers or other equipment should view their car from a distance of 100 feet and see that plates are clearly visible if they wish to avoid trouble with the authorities.

The matter of headlight adjusting is also being given attention by the inspectors. All lights must be examined at an appointed official testing station and a certificate secured. The period of tolerance for these violations has passed and everyone has been given ample opportunity by the authorities to comply with the law. Arrests of violators may be expected from now on where operators come under the official eye of the inspectors.

Tennessee Likes Kingston Product

On Saturday the Universal Road Machinery Company of this city received an order from the State Highway Department of Tennessee for eight portable 9x16 crushers with 24 foot folding elevators. This makes 15 Reliance crushers that have been furnished the state of Tennessee in two years.

The local company are elated over this order as they were in competition with seven other crusher manufacturers and were not the low bidders and feel that it is a tribute to their product that they were awarded the contract.

The plants will all be on their way within the next two weeks. This order brings the number of crushers sold so far in the month of April up to twenty, which is taken as an indication of being a banner year.

3,000 Members In Three Weeks

New York State Farm Bureau Federation Reports Large Increase in Farm Bureau Membership—Establishes New Record.

Farm bureau members in Ulster county will be interested in a report just received from the headquarters office of the New York State Farm Bureau Federation at Ithaca, which states that 3,000 farmers have joined the farm bureau in the three weeks ending April 15.

The latest membership figures show that the total farm bureau membership in the state is 24,195. This figure represents paid memberships only. The final paid membership last year was 28,398. It is expected that this year's membership will exceed that figure, as there remains three months in which farmers will join the bureau for the current year.

Commenting on this situation Enos Lee of Yorktown Heights, president of the federation, says: "Speaking of signs of the times I consider this a most hopeful one when 3,000 farmers in three weeks express their support of the farm bureau association financially. I am a strong believer in farmer support of the farm bureau, chiefly because its purpose is to better their business and secondly because in their county associations they can take action which the farm bureau because of its government connections can not. Government support the farm bureaus must have, and rightly so, since the preservation and development of our agriculture guards the most important of our national resources. But to my mind government and farmer support of farm bureau work must go along together to make possible the best use of the facilities which the bureaus offer."

Woman Killer of Seven Insane

Confesses Giving Strychnine to Her Two Babies, First Husband, Mother-in-Law and Other Members of the Family.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

St. Paul, Nebraska, April 20.—Mrs. Della Sorenson, 28, of Dannebrog, Nebraska, who killed seven persons from 1918 to 1923, will be enrolled as a patient in the Hastings State Hospital for the Insane today, following her complete confession here yesterday to county officers.

Mrs. Sorensen admitted she had given strychnine to two of her own babies; her first husband, the latter's mother, two small children of Mrs. Cooper, her sister-in-law, and the infant child of Mrs. Christina Brock, a friend.

Mrs. Sorenson was adjudged insane at a hearing held here yesterday and she will not be prosecuted for the killings, county attorney declared.

The Cooper children, according to the confessions, were poisoned because Mrs. Sorenson wanted revenge upon their mother for the latter's alleged "gossiping" about Mrs. Sorenson.

Her own babies, Mrs. Sorenson admitted, were killed because one of them was ill and excited her sympathy and the other because "it was always fussing and was too much bother."

After a "fall out" with her husband, Mrs. Sorenson told authorities she fed him strychnine in his food and shortly afterward killed his mother in the same manner.

The Brock child was poisoned because Mrs. Sorenson "felt sorry for it."

Mrs. Sorenson entreated her husband, Emmanuel Sorenson, not to let this break up her home, but the latter declared today he would never marry again.

Mrs. Sorenson was pleased when told she was going to a hospital, because, she said, "I'll be out then in a couple of weeks and come back home."

"Old Aunt Mary" Should Not Worry Over Traffic Cop

Unless She Is Willing to Come Forward With Whatever Information Is Possessed Concerning the Juggling Junto of Port Ewen.

To the Editor of The Freeman,

Sir:

After reading the communication of Anxious Citizen in The Freeman of Saturday, April, may we invoke your aid in reaching the writer of that communication, who we would address personally as follows:

Dear Anxious Citizen:

Yours of April 18, 1925, in the columns of this paper, we read with unusual interest and we commend your zeal in defense of your discovery of this active official without "fear or favor to enforce the statutes."

The discoveries of Columbus even pale into nothingness in comparison, and you are to be congratulated on this marvelous achievement, whether or not the people of Port Ewen ever appreciate it.

As we believe we have guessed your identity, sex, age, et cetera, we shall hereafter refer to you in this article as "Old Aunt Mary."

Your criticism of the acts of our own town board seem a bit untimely. Our notion of it is that our board being composed of men of experience and efficiency; some having seen some forty or fifty years of service in the affairs of state, is fully qualified in its line of service and would advise that the matter be left to them with no attempt to influence or intimidate them in the discharge of their duty. Then too, the judgment of mature men is always conceded to be superior to that of any elderly woman, no matter in what sphere she moves.

Dear Old Aunt, pardon us if we seem a bit discourteous, but permit us to assure you that we fully appreciate the handicaps with which you have to contend, such as age, sex and so on. We belong to the class referred to as "law abiding citizens," as, in fact do ninety-nine per cent of the people of Port Ewen, and we are here to support any movement to better enforce the law, but we are at a great disadvantage for you have not taken us into your confidence. Won't you please come forward and boldly lay aside your veil of secrecy and allow us to join your forces to combat this evil, wherever it may exist—on the highways, or—pardon us, Aunt Mary—in the imaginative brain of an elderly lady?

Your reference to the conduct of the juggling junto for personal or political aggrandizement at the expense of the innocent is in our opinion wrong and the perpetrators should be brought down. Again, as a good citizen won't you come forward and furnish us with a list of those referred to, that we may join hands with you in meteing out justice to them?

We agree that time brings truth to light and we feel sure it may in this case if you will but do your duty and be specific and give the names of the people composing each group: those of the juggling junto and those attempting to thwart the will of the majority.

Frankly, Dear Old Aunt, while most of us live just around the corner, we have no knowledge or proof of your charge and until you are fair minded enough to furnish us from your abundant supply of information, enough facts upon which to act, we feel constrained to say you are derelict in your duty as a citizen. In other words, "put up" or "shut up."

A very large and important group of law abiding citizens.

APRIL SHOWERS BRING LIGHTNING, HAIL, SNOW

A rain storm which started early Sunday morning swept over this section of the state and was accompanied by wind, hail, lightning, thunder and at times with snow, continued until this morning. Thermometers registered a drop of the mercury almost to the freezing point, causing men to discard their top coats for heavier overcoats. In the Catskills there were heavy snowsqualls as well as hailstorms. A few automobiles passing through Kingston this morning had their tops covered with snow. There were several thunder showers accompanied with vivid flashes of lightning during Sunday afternoon.

The great enemy of teeth

Film is the great enemy of teeth beauty. And a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the common cause of pyorrhea. It holds food in contact with teeth, inviting the acid that causes decay.

You can't have prettier, whiter teeth; you can't have healthier teeth unless you combat that film.

Applying for Junior Licenses

State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Only Official Who Can Issue Operator's Licenses to Minors—Application Blanks Ready in About Ten Days.

Nearly every day County Clerk John H. Sase receives applications for the so-called junior operator's licenses which will be issued to minors between the ages of sixteen and eighteen who wish to operate automobiles. As has been stated before, they will be issued in rural communities only and will not be transferable. Application blanks are expected to be ready in about ten days.

The state motor vehicle commissioner is the only person from whom licenses of this character may be had.

Answers to the followin questions must be written in on application blanks prepared under supervision of Charles A. Harnett, motor vehicle commissioner:

Is the community in which you live served by bus, trolley or rail?

Between what hours will vehicle be operated by you?

Over what roads will it be necessary for you to operate?

If operated in pursuit of education, give (a) name and location of school and (b) the distance from your home or place of abode.

If operated to assist a parent or guardian give location of creamery or market.

Give reasons why you believe a license is necessary.

If motor vehicle is to be operated in connection with duties assigned by parent or guardian, state fully the nature of such duties.

It is pointed out that the junior operators' license will expire on June 3, 1925. It will give the name, address and a general description of the person licensed. There will also be this certification:

"This is to certify that the person named and described on the reverse side has been licensed to operate a motor vehicle for the year ending June 30, 1925, in the morning between the hours.....and over the following highways.....for the purpose of....."

Attention is called to the fact that the license is not transferable. Persons are admonished to report any accident to the commissioner of motor vehicles.

The Graves law grew out of hearings and investigations made by the Stapley motor vehicle committee of the legislature, which last summer and fall had hearings for strengthening the motor vehicle law. Protests from rural communities arose against prohibiting rural minors from operating autos while going or coming from school or while engaged helping their fathers with farm work, caused Mrs. Graves to introduce the measure.

Better Living For Town Growth

Governor Smith Points Out That Relief from Congested City Conditions Must Come from Better Living Conditions and Opportunities for Livelihood in Remote Sections.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 20.—"Of more than five hundred small cities and incorporated villages in New York state, not one in seven has grown appreciably during the past twenty years, and a great many have fallen back," Governor Alfred E. Smith will say in the May issue of Survey Graphic, published this week. The governor is one of a dozen contributors to a special issue dealing with regional planning which will be distributed at the International Town, City and Regional Planning Conference opening today in New York.

"Up to the present," the governor continues, "instead of cultivating the centers that lacked the preeminent trade advantages of New York and Buffalo we have neglected them. The planning of communities and the planning of the state is probably the greatest undertaking we have before us."

Preliminary studies for a state plan, prepared by the New York State Commission of Housing and Regional Planning, will be presented in this number in connection with Governor Smith's article, the text of which follows:

"We are too much given to thinking of the map of New York as final. We have only to look back over the growth of the state during the past century to see how the effort of man has remodelled this great empire of ours. This is a very different state from what the original settlers found. It is a different state from what it was before the days of the railroad. It is going to be quite a different state in the future.

"We cannot ever again afford to permit the future growth of the state to be accidental. It must be planned to serve the interests of every man, woman and child and to give opportunity for a fuller and finer life, and not for the benefit of privileged groups.

"There is a direct relationship between the development of the natural resources of the state and the relief of the congested areas of its big cities. In the big cities, New York in particular, the value of land and the comparatively high rent of the most meager space make comfortable homes beyond the reach of great numbers, except in unusual undertakings such as those limited dividend corporations like the City Housing Corporation. Up to now we have been trying simply to prevent the overcrowding of certain districts, but something more fundamental than restrictive legislation is necessary. If we can offer better living conditions and the opportunity for earning a livelihood in parts of the state more remote from the great cities we will undoubtedly find many in whom the herd instinct has been somewhat overcome by the difficulties of tenement living and who will take advantage of them. Since I submitted the housing report of the Reconstruction Commission to the New York Legislature of 1920 a constructive policy has gradually taken shape. When in 1923 the legislature empowered me to appoint a commission to deal with housing problems, it was inaugurated not merely as a housing commission, but as a Housing and Regional Planning Commission.

"During the past year this commission has devoted some time to preliminary studies for the first comprehensive regional survey of the entire state. In time it can aid in the redistribution of the population of the state for the greater comfort and usefulness of vast numbers of people, if plans are made on a statewide basis.

"There is one small town of five hundred people not seventy miles from Buffalo, in which manufacturers were at a standstill ten years ago, which the State Highway Commission recently joined to the outside world by a splendid road. Shortly thereafter an electric industry planted itself in the neighborhood to make use of the power that flows through its river. Instead of having to put this new industry in a congested center, it was possible through the automobile and electric power to revitalize a town that had suffered for lack of work and for want of connection with other communities. With this came sufficient energy and resources to build houses; and to broaden the scope of the work undertaken so as to insure more fully the happiness and well-being of the people concerned. In this lie the germs of a policy of regional planning.

"Our agricultural districts are an example of the beginning the state has already made in regional planning. Agricultural experts have showed the farmers in some districts where they were attempting to get a living from mixed crops on land that could grow only grass, how they could save themselves by dairying; and where this was not practicable they helped the farmer who had only a hopeless life of penury ahead of him, to get hold of more favorable land, or to take up a different line of work. What intelligence has done to improve the lot of these farmers, intelligence can do for other industries and for other workers.

"Perhaps the greatest opportunity for state action lies in its enormous store of water power. Some of this power, especially on the smaller streams of the headwaters of the Susquehanna and Delaware rivers once drove the sawmills, later the grain and pulp mills, which in turn gave life to healthy villages. Today this power is running idly over the old dams. In the hasty, blind industrial development of the state, these places have been cut off from the world, and everything has drifted to the centers where markets and coal are available. Hydro-electric power will take the place of coal when we can agree upon an honest and equitable use of it that will aid industry and also preserve the rights of the state in its ownership."

NEW HOSPITAL BUILDING FOR MIDDLETOWN

Supreme Court Justice A. H. F. Seeger of Newburgh has authorized trustees aof the Elizabeth Horton Memorial Hospital to use $311,000 from the estate of Eugene H. Horton, leather man, to build a new hospital in Middletown.

Horton, who left a $10,000,000 estate about seven years ago, bequeathed $100,000 for the new hospital building and a $500,000 endowment fund to maintain it. The income from the endowment fund has amounted now to about $211,000.

Special Deputy Attorney General George W. Davis joined in the application made by Samuel Lager, representing interested parties, for the court's permission to have the funds used to start the new hospital which has been named after the founder's mother.

Collect Tree Seed

Ranchers and mountain farmers in parts of New Mexico have found an interesting and profitable side line in the gathering of evergreen tree seeds. Pine, spruce and fir seedlings are much in demand the world over for ornamental windbreak and commercial purposes, and since it is obvious that evergreens cannot wait 50 years or so for seed trees to begin bearing, the seeds must come out of the native woods.—American Forests and Forest Life.

Study to Predict Earthquakes

Government Scientists Believe They Will be Able to Furnish Accurate Predictions of Future Earth Tremors—Destructive 'Quake Likely Along Atlantic Coast.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 20.—The government is setting out to make an exhaustive and scientific study of earthquakes, with a view to ultimately predicting these vast upheavals of nature in advance—just as thunder showers, storms and high winds are now predicted with remarkable accuracy.

Announcement was made today that the survey will be undertaken by the United States coast and geodetic survey. It will take months, but the scientists who have it in charge are confident that ultimately they will be able to give advance notice of the probable time and place of future tremors and the results will more than justify the time and expense involved.

No section of the United States is immune from destructive upheavals, although there are well recognized earthquake zones," William Bowie, survey scientist, said today.

Earth tremors of varying intensity are recorded almost daily on seismographs along the Pacific coast, the Atlantic seaboard and the states bordering on the Mississippi river. More than 300 earthquakes occur every day in some part of the world.

"Earthquakes can be predicted as to time and place, but the strength of the tremor is uncertain, the element of time is uncertain and the area large," Bowie told the International News Service.

"Within the next century a heavy destructive earthquake is likely to occur along the Atlantic coast. The east cannot sit back and consider itself more secure from quakes than the far west."

Rain fundamentally is responsible for the earthquake, the scientist explained. The horsepower generated by the million miles of rain that have fallen since the earth was new, has made and remade mountains, formed continents, transformed the seas to plateaus and wrought other geological changes beyond man's comprehension.

Florida "Crazy," Says Dr. Edwards

Promoters Spending Money for Development in Order to Get Tourists to Sign Contracts for Land—Advises Northerners to Use Caution in Making Purchases.

Dr. C. Edwards, well known chiropractic physician, has returned to his home in this city, and resumed his practice at 297 Washington avenue. Dr. Edwards reports that Florida has "gone crazy" over real estate, nothing else being talked about from Jacksonville to Miami. During an absence of three months he visited many localities and says that apparently the entire state is "for sale." Millions of dollars are being spent by experienced promoters whose business is to create "home and town sites" overnight; orange groves, beaches, sandbars and even swamps are staked out into building lots. Tourists are lavishly entertained by rides in palatial motor busses, tempting luncheons, orchestral music, lectures and the highly alluring promises of sudden riches; everything is "free"—until, thoroughly inoculated, the helpless visitor signs his name on the dotted line and finds himself the "owner" (25 per cent cash down) of a piece of property he could easily buy in Kingston for one-tenth the price he has agreed to pay. Dr. Edwards believes that while Florida will steadily increase in popularity by reason of its equable climate and easy accessibility, the lack of a sound economic basis in the way of industries and agriculture renders it advisable that northerners contemplating the purchase of real estate there should exercise the utmost caution at this time.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 20, 1925.

OUR "SPOON-FED" AGE.

The Very Reverend W. R Inge, of St. Paul's, London, has published an article entitled "The Spoon-Fed Age," which sustains his reputation as "the gloomy Dean." He notes, for one thing, that the teeth of savages are kept strong and healthy by tearing tough meat without the help of knife and fork—which instruments, together with the art of cooking, "are reducing man to a toothless animal, and are perhaps responsible for appendicitis and cancer, from which savages hardly suffer at all." But what would he have? Shall we go back to raw food and savage methods of eating? The gloomy Dean is more impressive when he laments the decline of walking, which need not have been but for indolence, and for which we must pay a penalty in time, nature having originally intended that man should make good use of his legs.

Everywhere, says the Dean, "we find the same demand to make life easy, safe and foolproof" Even education, except where the pupils are encouraged to make things with their hands, "is mainly spoon-feeding." Every year we invent machines "to do something new for us" The process of making things easy "is discernible even in games," he says. The power of grappling with difficulties "will soon be lost" because no longer needed. This may be inevitable, but "nature will make us pay for it," for nature "takes away any faculty not used." In regard to "the general slackness and dislike of unnecessary exertion among our young people," the Dean, with a humor possibly unconscious, goes so far as to say that it even "affects their religion, which they like to have given them, like everything else, in tabloid form, and without any irksome demands upon their energies."

IT IS TRUE ANYWAY.

According to the Paris correspondent of a New York daily, a statement attributed to President Coolidge to the effect that former Premier Herriott's troubles came from inherited financial difficulties, and expressing great sympathy for the fallen premier, "has caused an exceedingly unpleasant impression in many quarters of the French Capital." Too bad! Too bad!

President Coolidge made no official statement of this kind. If he said such a thing in private conversation, to be snapped up by a reporter and shot over the wire, he was only expressing a personal opinion, and every American is entitled to that privilege.

European statesmen generally have not hesitated to express their opinions freely and publicly concerning American policies and government—indeed going to the extent of interfering in our domestic questions. Ever since the Armistice this country has been overrun with European statesmen and near-statesmen, counts and no accounts, who have entertained us with recipes for government and belabored us for failure to conform to their views. We have taken them good-naturedly, extended our hospitality, and calmly pursued our American way. Certainly President Coolidge was competent to make the statement attributed to him, having himself "inherited financial difficulty" of several unnecessary billions of debts from the Democratic Administration.

From Columbia, Tenn., comes the announcement of the death of Charlotte Bell, a negress said to be 113 years old and described as "a slave of General Polk until the close of the Civil War." Heretofore most colored centenarians of the South have claimed some sort of connection with General George Washington, but is is getting rather late for that now.

Judging from the columns of space in the newspapers given to the story of Babe Ruth's sudden illness on the train that was carrying him to New York, the mighty batsman is one of the most popular, if not one of the most important, personages of the world.

France is plainly not keen for another naval conference, although willing "out of deference to the United States," that there should be one. There is in this attitude more of compliment to the United States than promise of valuable cooperation.

Already Governor "Ma" Ferguson is reported to be sighing for the quiet of home and "the feminine sphere"—which indicates that after all she is more woman than statesman. Her 300 pardons in a short time are similarly significant.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

THE CHEMISTRY OF YOUR BODY.

One of our food specialists is giving us very timely advice on the importance of the minerals in the food. He points out that of the fifteen essential chemical elements entering into the composition of the body, that ten of them are mineral elements, each with its own special work to do, work that cannot be properly done by any of the other elements.

The trouble is that unless we, or our children, have some definite ailment known to be due to lack of minerals in the food, we do not concern ourselves much about our diet. This very deficiency may make it easier for us to pick up some other ailment, because our resistance has been lowered.

Another factor entering into it, is that the chemistry of one body is so different from that of another, that the same food gets handled differently after it is eaten

Just as some forms of refining metals will get, or recover a higher percentage of the metal from the same ore, similarly one body can absorb more from a given amount of the same food, than can another body

Why?

Well, it may be due to some inherited qualities, or it may be due to the care and thought one gives to his body

This would mean that although the idea of calories—heat value of food—is excellent in its way, just how much of any particular food is really digested by any particular body can only be surmised.

Although minerals—iron, lime, potassium, sodium, and so forth, are of the utmost importance to the growing child, they are also essential to the adult, as many of the structures aside from the bones, need them

The idea then of a well mixed daily diet, which has come down to us through past centuries, is still the correct one.

Thus sugar and flour, which are excellent as heat and energy producers, are just a little short on minerals.

Green vegetables are rich in lime and iron, but are short in sodium. This is why it is the most natural thing in the world to want to use a little salt—sodium chloride—on your vegetables.

In regard to cereals, they are rich in proteids which are good builders or repairers, but they need a little more iron in them

So your growing child should have milk, vegetables, and fruit, and you can't do much better than use these also, with some meat or eggs if you do some real muscular work.

FAMOUS WOMEN—ALEXANDRA.

Queen of Judea, widow and successor of Alexander Jannaeus, a wise and virtuous princess, who, contrary to the example of her husband, studied to please her subjects and preserved peace and prosperity during her reign of seven years. She died in the 73rd year of her age, B. C. 70. She was the mother of Hycranus and Aristobulus, and the latter years of her reign were disturbed by the attempt of her younger son, Aristobulus, to obtain the sovereignity, as he was exasperated by the favor his mother showed to the sect of the Pharisees, and the authority she allowed them.

LOGAN'S LINE.

The first scientist to discover the great earth-fault, or crack, which runs through the eastern part of the North American continent, was Sir William Edmund Logan, the Canadian geologist, who was born 127 years ago today, and died in 1875.

He was director of the Canadian Geological Survey from 1842 to 1871, and in 1857 he discovered the belt of old earthquake activity which has since been known as "Logan's Line" and which extends through the lower St Lawrence Valley along the Appalachian range of mountains to central Alabama. Logan traced this belt by means of the great dislocations or faults in the rocks. The worst earthquake in North American history, that of 1663, was in this belt and on many occasions since then and as late as 1918, this part of the earth has been visited by tremors —as it also was early in the past month Scientists declare that the great movements of rock strata which occurred chiefly in the remote geologic past, is not yet wholly complete, and that the fault discovered by the Canadian geologist suggests the possibility of future earthquakes caused by the slipping of rock masses upon each other within the earth's crust.

Battery "A" Drills Tonight

The public is invited to be present at the armory this evening, at which time Battery "A," 156th Field Artillery, will hold its regular weekly drill and the privilege of seeing what a battery of field artillery does when in action will be afforded.

Battery "A" is composed of real red-blooded American citizens and future successful business men. This is accomplished by developing in young men strong characters and making them mentally alert, physically fit, and with a determination and energy to overcome obstacles by training them in organization, administration and executive functions.

Now that complete equipment has been received, the local artillerymen feel that the public does not realize what a change has taken place since the transfer of the local guardsmen from infantry to artillery.

The military training received by an artilleryman covers strategy and science Military training is most valuable in meeting the present day requirements of modern, progressive business. The armory itself is as completely equipped as any club in the city Ample facilities are provided for entertainment, dances, billiards and pool, basketball, etc.

Local business men are invited to investigate the constructive work of Battery "A" and advise those in whom they are interested to look into the advantages of this organization, not only for military training but for development into good citizens and successful business assets Young men with military training become leaders and "builders," having a decided advantage over men not so trained. This training helps to overcome selfishness, slovenliness, lack of objective in life, carelessness, mental and physical unfitness, and lack of desirable acquaintances.

Battery "A" is equipped with the regulation French 75mm. gun which made such a name for itself during the late World War and incidentally the pieces with which Battery "A" is equipped were used over-seas during the war and each piece has its own history, which is a matter of record in its individual gun book

At this drill on Monday evening the public will also be afforded the privilege of examining these pieces and asking any questions pertaining to their construction or ammunition such as shrapnel, high explosive and other shells will be answered.

The doors will be opened tonight at 7 30 o'clock

Teachers Shown Proper Lighting Of School Rooms

Many Pupils Suffer from Defects of Vision Due to Incorrect Scheme of Lights.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 20.—A nation-wide effort to eliminate from the schoolroom the conditions which are having a harmful effect on the eyes of children will be initiated today.

The superintendent of schools in every state, county and city having a school population of 25,000, or more, will receive from the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, for distribution among public school teachers, a communication based on the code of lighting school buildings which was prepared under the joint sponsorship of the Illuminating Engineering Society and the American Institute of Architects. This code was recently approved as the American standard.

In announcing the plan to place a copy of a non-technical summary of this code in the hands of every public and private school teacher in America, Mrs. Winifred Hathaway, secretary of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, declared that a recent study of the condition of the eyes of more than 4,000,000 public school children indicates that approximately 12 per cent of all school children in America have such seriously defective vision as to be handicapped in their school work.

Proper Plans.

The communication from the National Committee will not only acquaint the teacher with the principles of correct lighting, but will deal with the arrangement of seats and desks, colorings of walls, the use of window shades, construction and location of blackboards, and the position of the teacher herself in the classroom, all of which have important bearing on the lighting condition within the room and on the use or abuse of the children's eyes.

The committee emphasizes the fact that the eyestrain resulting from incorrect lighting of school rooms frequently results in functional disorders, nearsightedness, or other serious eye defects.

It declares that two of the chief causes of eyestrain are insufficient illumination and glare, and then describes the methods of eliminating these causes.

Code Summary.

The non-technical summary of the code was prepared by a special committee of nationally known lighting experts under the chairmanship of Mrs. Winifred Hathaway, secretary of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness.

The other members of this special committee were: Professor S. K. Barrett, Profess of Electrical Engineering, New York University, New York. Walter S Deffenbaugh, Chief of Division of City Schools, United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C.; J. E. Hannum, Research Engineer, Eyesight Conservation Council of America, New York; M. G. Lloyd, Chief of Safety Diision, United States Bureau of Standards, Washington; M. Luckiesh, Laboratory of Applied Science, Nela Park, Cleveland, Ohio, and W. J. Serrill, Philadelphia.

An initial edition of 112,000 copies of this summary has been published by the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness for free distribution, and additional quantities will be available soon.

As long as it remains frozen there is no deterioration in the quantity or quality.

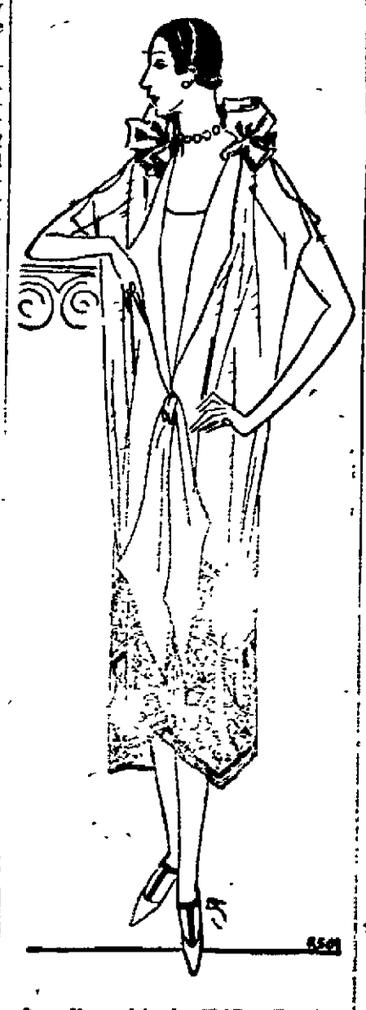
NEGLIGEES—AT HOME AND ABROAD.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

There is a distinct need these days of much touring about from place to place, for clothes which can stand the strain of travel. A need, too, for negligees and dressing gowns, which may be folded into an infinitesimal space in one's traveling case, and which will not look absurd scurrying down a Pullman aisle.

This is given as one of the reasons why plain satin, often trimmed with color, has developed into such an important material for negligees. One clever one, shown recently, had a wide panel down the straight back, also wide bands on the sleeves of a very highly colored printed silk. Another had a vivid rose lining, and a little standing collar of shirred satin, a rose embedded in the shirring at one side.



Less Formal is the Chiffon Boudoir Coat With Its Rose Taffeta Ruche Collar, and Cream Lace.

So many negligees are cut on coat lines and made of such stuffs as evening gowns are made of that one might well be in a quandary as to which it was.

Fringe puffings of silks, folds and handkerchief points are among the favored adornments, depending, of course, on the nature of the gown. There is, of course, lace—not excepting metal—as well as marabou, ostrich and artificial flowers. Scarf necklines are well liked for travel robes and negligees generally, and the tie method, so popular in coats, is highly approved in the dressing room, be it at home or on the train or the steamer.

BIG BARN BURNED IN DELAWARE COUNTY

Fire which destroyed an insurance barn on the S. A. Andrews farm at South Kortright Friday morning about 8:30 o'clock, called out the firemen from Hobart, Stamford and Delhi, who responded as quickly as their motor apparatus could get to the scene. It was one of the finest barns in Delaware county. The barn was rented to J. A. Calras who had thirty head of cattle and a pair of horses stabled there at the time but they were taken out by South Kortright people who arrived early at the fire.

The loss is estimated at from $20,000 to $25,000. Good work by the firemen saved a number of other buildings. Mr. Andrews, the owner, is in Bermuda.

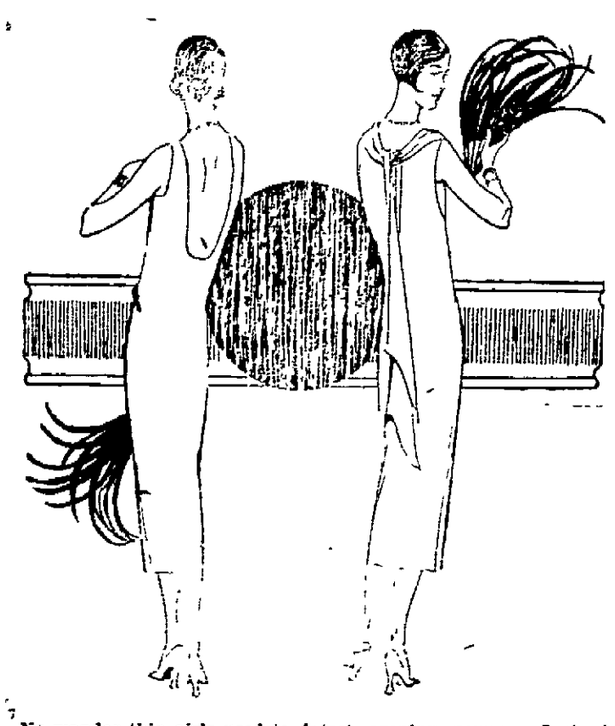
"INDIVIDUALITY OF DRESS"

Use Scarf To Soften Lines Of Unbecoming Evening Gown



No wonder thin girls used to detest evening gowns. Such dresses seemed to be especially designed to point out their defects. Nowadays, however, evening gowns are more friendly. One of the methods of making them so is the use of the popular scarf effect knotted at the back. Such a scarf may be added to any evening dress with an unbecoming back.

Here's the enemy to skin disorders!

RESINOL—a gentle, healing ointment that soothes its way into the pores and attacks the source of the trouble.

The first touch relieves the itching, burning and soreness and the skin usually gets well quickly and easily unless the trouble is due to some serious internal disorder. It is nearly flesh color so can easily be used on exposed surfaces. It costs little and goes a long way.

When the skin is once restored to its normal condition; the daily use of Resinol Soap is generally sufficient to keep it healthy. Ideal for the complexion, bath and shampoo.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

Rub on Good Old Musterole

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub good old Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, does the work without blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

To Mothers:* Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

HELPFUL BUNNIE BONNIE

Melly was ill. She was feeling very sick and the doctor came and though he was as kind as kind could be, he did give her most horrible medicine to take.

Allie Baa Never Left Melly.

It made Melly feel a little better, but she still felt sick.

Her head ached and she felt quite hot and very tired.

Allie Baa never left Melly. When Melly couldn't play Allie Baa didn't seem to want to play.

She wasn't restless, nor did she show in any way that she wanted to do anything else but stay by Melly's side, and give her what comfort she could.

Not only did Allie Baa behave so quietly, but Allie didn't want to do anything while Melly was ill except stay by her side.

Not long before Melly had been given several pet rabbits. They were darling little rabbits. Their noses wiggled and their whiskers shook as they smiled at Melly.

Melly knew they smiled at her! Some people would not have seen that they were smiling. But Melly loved her rabbits and they loved her, so she knew they smiled at her, just as she smiled at them!

But a sad accident had happened to two of the rabbits. Dogs had put an end to their little lives, and Melly had been very sad.

She cried, and Allie Baa had snuggled up into Melly's arms and had tried to say as best she could:

"Dearest mother, I am so, so sorry."

Allie's comfort and sympathy had helped a great deal. And then the favorite rabbit of all had been rescued in time.

The harm had been done before any of the family knew what was happening. But oh, fortunate indeed had been the fact that they had driven the dogs away before poor little Bunnie Bonnie had been attacked.

How his heart had raced, how he had trembled as he had tried to hide from the dogs.

How happy he was when he was rescued and when all was quiet again.

He and Melly had become greater friends than ever after that. He followed her around, he loved to be held and fondled, he showed his devotion in so many ways. And it was so nice that Allie Baa was not jealous of Bunnie Bonnie, nor was Bunnie Bonnie jealous of Allie.

But now Melly was ill, and poor Bunnie Bonnie was very lonely.

He was so lonely he couldn't eat. He didn't understand why Melly didn't bring him his food. He didn't understand why Melly didn't come down to the end of the garden where were his house and private garden.

"He won't eat," Melly's mother said to the doctor, "and I think Melly would feel better, too, if Bunnie Bonnie were allowed to see her."

Bunnie Bonnie was brought to Melly's bed and with happiness shining in his little pink eyes he nestled down by Melly's side.

He ate some clover now. He had a good meal of carrot. And Melly felt better, too.

Oh, how quiet and good he was! He seemed to understand that Melly was not very well and that he must help to make her well.

Melly Felt Better, Too.

There they were, Melly and Allie Baa and little Bunnie Bonnie, all upon the big bed in the old bedroom.

And the next day when the doctor came he said:

"That little rabbit has helped me a great deal. Melly can sit up today on the back porch in the sunshine."

"Oh, what joy there was that day. You could have seen it in each of their faces had you seen them—Melly and Allie Baa and the little, soft, furry, black and white Bunnie Bonnie!

Conundrums

What is taken from you before you get it? Your portrait.

What is it that requires many answers, although it never asks any questions? A doorbell.

What is that from which you take away the whole and yet some is left? Wholesome.

What islands produce the best singers? The Canaries.

The Reason

Sister's Suitor—How is it, Johnnie that you have such a dislike for me? I have never done anything to deserve it.

Johnnie—Yes you have. When you come to see Katie she puts the clock back and it makes me late for school.

MORE GOOD THINGS

A most delicious combination for a simple salad is pineapple and dates.

Cut the dates into quarters, removing the stones, and cut the pineapple into cubes. Serve on lettuce with a highly seasoned boiled dressing or mayonnaise.

Old English Date Pie.—Beat two eggs, add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoonful each of nutmeg, allspice and cloves, one cupful of sour cream, one tablespoonful of fine bread crumbs, one cupful of dates cut into pieces, and one-half cupful of coconut. The coconut is used to sprinkle over the top of the pie. Bake in one crust.

Shepherd's Pie.—Put layers of thinly sliced roast beef and mashed potatoes in layers in a buttered dish, having the potatoes at the bottom. Moisten the meat layers generously with gravy. Season to taste and finish with a layer of mashed potato over the top. Brown in a hot oven and serve from the baking dish.

Celery Toast.—Take the outside, coarser stalks of celery, cut into half-inch pieces and cook until tender. Drain, use half cupful of the celery water and one-half cupful of milk; add to two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour and cook until smooth and thick. Add the celery and pour over buttered toast; serve very hot.

Smoked Salmon Relish.—Cut very thin slices of smoked salmon, dip into boiling water and place on rounds of browned buttered toast. Slip a poached egg on each, season with butter, salt and pepper and serve at once.

Toasted Sardine Sandwiches.—These are nice for a supper dish: Cut thin slices of bread into triangles, spread lightly with butter. Remove the skin and bones from sardines, add lemon juice and a dash of cayenne to the fish. Spread the sardine mixture over the bread and toast a delicate brown. Serve hot.

Any leftover fish may be added to a cream sauce and served with toast or with mashed potato.

53 MILES OF CARPET AND RUGS DAILY PRODUCTION.

The wool used daily in the weaving of carpets and rugs by a New York manufacturer is equal to the shearing from thirty thousand sheep. The soft, rich coats of these animals are turned into the looms at the rate of 220,000 pounds every day.

These and many other interesting facts were revealed recently through the publication of statistics concerning the mammoth mills at Yonkers, N. Y., by Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Company, said to be the largest manufacturers of carpets and rugs in the world.

If all the wool used in these mills were purchased according to the number of animals from which it is sheared, a year's output at the mills would represent the clip from 9,000,000 sheep—a number which would constitute herds beyond imagination.

For the manufacturing of all this wool into American-made carpets and rugs, the energy and industry of 7,500 employes is devoted with a spirit of cooperation and craftsmanship resembling the loyalty given to the individual loom by the smaller weaver of bygone days.

This army of workers operates 1,500 looms, with a total daily production of 90,000 yards of carpets and rugs. One day's output in a continuous line would make a strip of carpet 53 miles long.

AETNA LIFE CONFERENCE

Held at Hotel Ten Eyck in Albany on April 16th and 17th.

A. D. Pardee, representing Pardee & Van Inwagen Insurance Agency, Kingston's Actuaries, attended a two day conference of Eastern New York Actuaries at Hotel Ten Eyck in Albany last week. In addition to the 150 agents, other representatives from the home office attended the conference, including W. L. Mooney, vice-president and Charles G. Hallowell, secretary.

Mr. Pardee took an active part in the work of the conference, in addition to which he was on the program to lead in the discussion of Selling Adequate Limits Automobile Liability and Property Damage Insurance. The conference was a very successful one and Manager George A. Mills of the Albany Branch was highly complimented by the home office executives for the excellent program arranged by him. The company entertained the agents at a banquet on Thursday night and a theatre party on Friday night.

Holy Name At Communion

Annual Communion Breakfast of St. Mary's Holy Name Society Held Sunday Was Attended By Over 150 Members.

The annual communion breakfast of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church was held Sunday morning. Over 150 members attended the church services and received communion at the 8 o'clock Mass. Following the reception of communion the members repaired to the school hall, where the members of the Rosary Society served the breakfast.

Joseph F. Sullivan was the toastmaster at the speechmaking and entertainment which followed the breakfast. William C. Rudolph of Richmond Hill, Long Island, gave a very interesting talk on the activities of the Knights of Columbus and Holy Name Society in his home city, telling of the accomplishment of a Catholic community center. The activities of the community center and its splendid results were very clearly expressed by the speaker, who impressed his hearers profoundly.

The Rev. Joseph B. Scully, pastor of St. Mary's and spiritual director of the society, paid high tribute to the work of the church organization and emphasized the importance of society in church circles.

In his talk the president of the society, Edward P. Ward, extended thanks to the ladies of the Rosary Society who so faultlessly served the appetizing breakfast.

The very pleasing entertainment consisted of solos by Martin Dunn, Master John Long and selections by the John C. Smith orchestra.

SCHEDULE OF FEES FOR OMNIBUSES

Reports from county clerks received by the bureau of motor vehicles at Albany indicate that there is a misapprehension of the recently enacted law in relation to the schedule of fees for motor vehicles used as omnibuses. Although the law took effect at once such rates will not be changed until after July 1. The new law provides that if a motor vehicle used as an omnibus is originally registered after July 1 and on or before October 1 in any year the fee for registration for that year shall be one-half the prescribed yearly fee, and if registered after October 1 the register fee for that year will be one-fourth the prescribed yearly fee.

Trade Winds' Effects

The trade winds do more than carry the west-bound mariner on his way, says Nature Magazine. They have been called "the pulse of the atmospheric circulation," because their fluctuations are related to the weather events of distant regions, and their parching breath is responsible for most of the world's big deserts.

Colonials Lost Opening Game to D. & H. Generals

Morgan Pitching for Colonials Is Very Poorly Supported—Colonials Present Three New Players—Rossback Pitches Good Game.

The D and H. Generals marred the score column of the Kingston Colonial book by inserting a victory over the locals on page No. one. Credit for the 7 to 6 victory at the Fair Grounds Saturday goes to Rossback and the loss goes to M Morgan, the opposing pitchers.

Both pitchers did very good mound work, for an early season game, but their teammates did not come through with the necessary support. In the E column of the Fair Grounds team the numeral ten, indicates the manner in which they performed and six in the Generals' column attests to the support Rossback received.

Joe Hoffman was the chief offender, having four errors marked against him. Hoffman played in a rather handicapped manner, it being his first game in fast company. Deegan, not so inexperienced, added three.

The errors were not the outstanding features although prolific Rossback led with the willow, collecting a total of three hits. Phelps had two hits in his column and the remaining players of the Generals each had one.

Mercer, Coyle and Robins, each came through with two hits apiece Deegan and J. Morgan each made one, bringing the total to eight.

The new players in the locals' lineup were Mercer in center field, Hoffman at short, McDermott in right field, and Hammond left field The local representatives looked pretty in their new uniforms of white.

The Colonials got off to a brilliant start, making three runs in the first frame and one in the second. The remaining two runs came in the final inning. The winners were content with two runs in the second frame, taking the lead in the sixth inning, when three runs were pushed across the plate. One run in the eighth and ninth, gave the Generals seven.

The weather was ideal for a baseball game and a good crowd attended the opener on Saturday. Sunday's game of course was not played.

WALKER REFUSES TO MEET DAVE SHADE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 20.—Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, declared today he would decline to fight Dave Shade, challenger, in a New York ring in spite of the fact that he accepted entertainment here on condition that he give Shade a shot at the title.

Walker, who leaves for California on Thursday, wants to meet Harry Greb here on June 19, but negotiations have come to a standstill because the local commission has insisted that Shade be given the first shot.

Boston Marathon Classic Today

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Hopkinton, Mass., April 20.—Half an inch of snow and sleet coverd the countryside and a slashing gale swept down from the northeast today as 121 running stars of the country gathered here for the start of the 29th annual Boston Athletic Association Marathon classic.

The winner of today's race, from this town to Boston, will be crowned "champion Marathoner of the United States," the Amateur Athletic Union having decided there should be a championship at the Marathon distance.

Despite the bitter cold, thousands of spectators lined the route of the Marathon, which led through Framingham, Natick, Wellesley, Newton Lower Mills, Auburndale, Brookline to the B. A. A. club house in the Back Bay district of Boston.

Clarence De Mar, the little veteran Marathon runner, four times winner of the classic, was the favorite to win the national title today.

In order to have the race go off under Olympic conditions the runners were "on their own" today. For the first time in the history of the road race, no attendants were permitted to ride with the racers First aid stations were established along the route, however. State constabulary patrolled the track.

The distance of the course was 26 miles, 385 yards. It was estimated that 200,000 persons would witness the grind.

Frank Zuna, Bill Kennedy, Frank Wendling, Whitey Michelson, Charles "Chuck" Mellor, Carl Linder, Wallie Carlson, Willie Kronen, Ralph Williams and many other stars gathered early at the starting place eager to stop the winning streak of De Mar and place their own name on the honor list of winners.

Tagging Major League Bases

Finally discovering their punch, the Browns swarmed all over Robertson and Cvengros for 19 hits and gained their maiden victory of the season, 11 to 4, the White Sox being the victims.

The rampant Reds sent in another decision by way of contributing to their league leadership, taking a running jump on Yde in the seventh and beating the Pirates 6 to 2.

Homers by Wilson and Kelly and the laudable pitching of McQuillan brought the Giants down to the wire in front of the Dodgers, 4 to 3. The decision carried the Giants' streak to four straight.

Friends, fellow citizens, pin back your ears. A Cardinal pitcher turns in a shut out. The young man is Leo Dickerman who held the Cubs to four hits while the Cardinals made merry with Alexander. Score 6 to 0.

Path Improves Steadily.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 20.—Although Babe Ruth was reported today as steadily improving at St. Vincent's Hospital, there was little hope expressed that he would recover from the effects of his illness and resume operation to return to the Yankees before the first week in May. The big hitter's recovery, it was said, is being retarded by worry over his team's performances in recent games.

FRENCH BOXER HERE AFTER TITLE MATCH

Edouard Mascart Likely to Meet Kaplan in Madison Square Garden.

Edouard Mascart, French boxer, who holds the European featherweight championship title is in this country in quest of the world's title in his class. The little French fighter arrived, accompanied by his manager, Edmond Tietart, prepared to accept a match against Louis (Kid) Kaplan, recognized champion, for which negotiations have been in progress for some time.

Lew Burston, who at one time looked after the ring affairs of Danny Frush, announced he will be identified with the management of Mascart during the latter's visit to this country. Mascart, it was announced, will make his headquarters in Brooklyn.

Promoter Tex Rickard has been conducting negotiations for a Kaplan-Mascart match and said he is prepared to submit to the French boxer terms which he is confident Mascart will accept. According to the promoter's present plans Mascart and Kaplan will clash in Madison Square Garden on May 5, when the last boxing match the historic old arena will witness will be conducted.

Rickard said, however, that if Mascart or Kaplan interpose objections to an indoor bout, he is prepared to hold the battle at the Yankee stadium during the outdoor season. It was said that it is unlikely Mascart will engage in an American battle before he faces Kaplan in a title struggle.

Hit First Pitched Ball Good Piece of Advice

That's broke up many a perfectly good ball game—this hitting the first ball pitched. How often have you seen a couple of ball clubs just sawing wood, three men up and three men down?

Then, all at once—wham! bing! bust!—three hits in a row and one of them a double or triple or something.

The sly manager has been watching the pitcher of the opposing club. He has seen him sneak the first ball down the batter's alley time after time.

Then he passes the word around to the boys in the dugout to bust the first one.

A pitcher naturally likes to lay the first one over so he will have a little margin to work in taking chances on the breaks of his assortment.

It works in any angle of life with a fair producing average. If you start to wait out those opportunities that come along about every so often, why, they'll get by, and instead of getting a base on balls you'll be paying higher rent and taking a cut in salary.

So hit the first ball pitched and hit it hard. That's the secret of many a millionaire's bank account.

ONE-BASE HITS

By JACK SIMPSON.

Phantom Double Plays.

It is amazing to note the number of infielders who make plays under the above heading. It seems they don't plan, before a play is made, what to do with the ball if it is hit to them.

Very often an infielder will tag a base when he should have tagged the baserunner. As for example, a baserunner is on second base when a ball is knocked to the third baseman who will step on third base and then relay the ball to the first baseman thinking he makes a double play. Another case somewhat similar is first base being occupied and ball hit to the first baseman. He fields the ball, steps on first base, relays the ball to second. The shortstop accepts the throw and steps on second base although the baserunner slid in after the throw was received.

In both of the above cases the runners going into third and second bases were safe because they were not forced to take those bases, but had to be tagged with the ball to be retired. It will be noted that in the former case first base was not occupied at the time the play arose and in the latter the batter was retired when the first baseman fielded the ball. The runner originally on first had a perfect right to go back to first base if he thought he would be caught at second.

To avoid making these phantom doubleplays, always remember a baserunner is not forced to take the next base unless the base he just left is occupied by another baserunner. It is better for an infielder to plan what he will do with the ball if it is hit or thrown to him, and many mistakes of the above nature will be avoided.

First Week in the Major Leagues

Cincinnati and Cleveland Confound Experts by Leading the Field—Reds and Indians Have Received Excellent Pitching.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 20.—Cleveland and Cincinnati, generally rated well off the pace by the dear old experts, have proceeded to confound the great minds by running ahead of the field through the first week of the major league races. Some one, it seems, has been feeding the Indians and Reds raw meat and the rest of the pack has been handed theirs burned to a crisp. To date, the major league races look like a laundry ticket with the Pirates and Browns in the cellar and the Dodgers, Yankees and Tigers floundering in the second division.

Both of the early leaders have earned their places, however. The Reds have got excellent pitching from Rixey, Donahue and Luque, and averaged more than ten hits a game over the first five played. You can't beat that with a horsewhip.

The Indians also have obtained surprising results from several of their pitchers, but it must be conceded that the club has won the majority of its games from the Browns, who beat themselves or at least gave the matter the good old college try. They made 13 errors, no less, in the first four games, being approached in this respect only by the Reds, who made 11 and the Pirates who obliged with 10. That is one answer to the Pirates' present position; the other is bad pitching from a good staff.

The Giants, in second place, got away running at the expense of the Braves, who are hopeless, and of the Dodgers, who are feeling the temporary loss of Grimes, who held out so long that he will not be ready for some days.

The Cubs have been hitting, particularly in the matter of home runs, of which they have made eight in seven games. The Kilifer entry however, has lacked the benefit of consistent pitching and some of them victories have resulted from scores that might have been made at the annual grocers' picnic.

The Cards lost three of their first four games to the Reds but broke out in a rash of hitting against the Cubs and now top both leagues with a record of 67 hits in six games. A lot of this has been wasted, as expected, by indifferent pitching.

In the American League, only the Boston Red Sox have failed to step out of character. The Sox contributed much to the early speed of the Athletics, who won three out of four, and then took the Senators in the first game. Inspired hitting is the answer, the Athletics getting 59 hits including six homers, in their first five games. The Senators, running third, have not hit their stride as yet but were good enough to beat the Yankees, who have hit nothing. Both clubs will do better when their pitchers begin to function under more benign weather conditions.

The White Sox have done well in their early games, getting an even break in six games, but the Tigers' pitchers, slightly underdone at this stage of the proceedings, have failed Cobb. The Browns, picked as a contender with an outside chance, have shown less than nothing. They haven't even hit with their accustomed vigor, although yesterday's returns, in which they got 11 runs and 19 hits, gave indications of an immediate improvement.

GRAY FOX CLIMBED A TREE AT UNION CENTER.

Last week while Arthur Lancaster was standing in his yard at Union Center, his dog began to bark and then dashed away toward the orchard. Mr. Lancaster followed and found the dog under a tree in which was lodged a large grayish animal that he thought was a big cat. Securing a pole he dislodged the animal and after a fierce fight the dog killed it. It proved to be a large gray fox. Mr. Lancaster said that this was the first time he had ever heard of a fox climbing a tree.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York, April 20.—Progress in the forward movement in stock prices was halted today by profit taking and professional short selling but in few cases were there any wide breaks in market values. The bears were unable to make any headway with the oil stocks and movements in the motor stocks were mixed. After extreme gyrations between 86½ and 81 in the first hour Maxwell B was stabilized around 83½, at which price the bulk of sales were made.

While prices in many active industrial stocks showed declines of from 3 to 10 points on the tape, the volume of sales at the lower prices was comparatively small. The principal efforts of the bears were directed against Cast Iron Pipe, American Sugar, Radio Corporation and the St. Paul stocks, which broke to the lowest prices in their history, the common reaching 3½ and the preferred 7¼.

But there was no general desire to sell at concessions from present prices and offerings decreased at the lower price levels. United States Steel was inactive and inclined to dullness, Cast Iron Pipe lost nine points in the early trading but recovered about half. Shorts in Radio Corporation succeeded in pushing that stock down about 3 points.

Rumors of upward adjustments in dividends of Frisco Common and Southern Railway led to some buying of these stocks at fractional advances in prices, but these were without effect on the balance of the railroad list. New York Central and Atchison sold slightly higher.

Religion

I've seen pretty clear ever since I was a young un, as religion's something else besides doctrines and notions. I look at it as if the doctrines was like finding names for your feelings, so as you can talk of 'em when you've never known 'em, just as a man may talk o' tools when he knows their names, though he's never so much as seen 'em, still less handled 'em.—George Eliot.

R-33 Breaks Loose in Storm

The British Zeppelin, R-33, sister ship of the R-34, first dirigible to make a round trip across the Atlantic, broke loose from her mooring mast at Pulham, Norfolk, Eng., during a terrific gale, and was swept out over the North Sea. The accident was almost identical with that sustained by the American dirigible Shenandoah, which was torn from its mooring mast at the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J. The R-33, which has been undergoing extensive alterations for a year, was shortly to have been flown to India. She is pictured here moored to the very mast from which she broke loose. There were twenty men on board.

WHY SKINNY FOLKS TAKE COD LIVER OIL

Because it is richer in vitamines than any other food in the world.

Doctors prescribe it for rickets and anaemia in children and for tuberculosis, malnutrition and convalescence in grown up people.

As a producer of weight—good healthy flesh—there is nothing in the world so good.

But it's nasty tasting, horrible smelling stuff that often upsets the stomach so doctors now are ordering cod liver oil in tablet form.

You've got to take on weight when McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are taken regularly—you simply can't help it.

It's so good that if it doesn't put on five pounds of good healthy flesh on any skinny man or woman in thirty days the McCoy Laboratories of New York authorize all druggists to return the price you paid for it.

Be sure to ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—sixty tablets—60 cents. One woman put on fifteen pounds in five weeks, and they are especially valuable to weak, thin children.

Limits Evidence In Wheeler Case

Court Excludes Evidence Relating to Oil Permits Unless They Were Actually Pending at Time Montana Senator Is Accused of Wrongdoing.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Great Falls, Mont., April 20.—The defense in the trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana on charges of misuse of office scored an important victory today in a ruling handed down by Federal Judge Frank S. Dietrich.

Upholding a motion by Senator Walsh, chief defense counsel, the court barred the prosecution from introducing evidence or testimony relating to government oil permits that were not actually pending before the interior department in January, 1923, the time when Wheeler's indictment charged he illegally received a fee to appear before Washington authorities relative to permits of Gordon Campbell, Montana oil promoter and his associates.

The prosecution expected to complete its case today.

As soon as the government concluded, defense counsel announced they would move to have Judge Frank S. Dietrich instruct the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty.

As one of its final moves, the government planned to call to the stand the unnamed Washington, D. C. lawyer whom John L. Slattery, United States attorney, told the jury would testify that Wheeler proposed an arrangement whereby both could "make millions" out of oil lands obtained through interior department permits.

From North Creek to Newcomb the highways are snowbound with snow sixteen inches to two feet in depth.

Joseph Caillaux, former Premier of France, who was charged with treason at the end of the world war and banished from Paris for five years, created a storm when he told friends he would enter the new Painleve Cabinet as Minister of Finance. His wife, Mme. Caillaux, was acquitted in 1914 of murder after shooting to death Gaston Calmette, editor of the Paris Figaro. Mayor Theodore F. Odell of Nyack, N. Y., is pictured here in the garb he wore as a woman in a charity play given there. He was arrested for impersonating a woman when he appeared on the streets of the city in the wedding gown. Earl Sande, the world's greatest jockey, recovered from an almost fatal accident sustained last year at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., has signed to ride for J. P. Widener, president of the Westchester, N. Y., Racing Association, having been released by Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man, who had him under contract.

Convictions in Dry Cases Stand

United States Supreme Court Affirms Convictions in Unusual Number of Cases—Re-affirms Right to Search Automobiles Without Presence of Search Warrant.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 20.—The "hard boiled" attitude of the United States Supreme Court toward liquor law violators was strikingly manifested today in an unusual number of cases involving appeals from convictions under the prohibition law.

In every decision handed down today the court upheld convictions in lower courts, and again reaffirmed its decision that automobiles may be searched and liquor confiscated without the presence of a search warrant.

Prison for City Officials.

Among the convictions upheld today were those of Mayor Roswell O. Johnson, and other city officials of Gary, Indiana, who were sentenced to prison in the "clean up" of the northern Indiana city some months ago. These officials were tried and convicted before Judge A. B. Anderson at Indianapolis.

Mayor Johnson was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment and payment of $2,000 fine; Lewis E. Barnes, president of the board of public works, got one year and $1,000; prosecuting attorney, D. Kinder, received one year and $1,000 and others lesser sentences and fines.

They had appealed their cases to the court on the ground they were convicted by insufficient evidence and by "inflammatory newspaper articles which created public sentiment against them."

Manufacturers' Convictions Upheld.

In two cases, the Supreme court today upheld the conviction and punishment of manufacturing establishments, the Sackenheimer Distilling Company of Pittsburgh and the Keystone Brewing Company of Lackawanna county, Pennsylvania. In the Sackenheimer case the sentences of Lewis Brown and Louis Farkas to two years in prison and fines of $10,000 each, were affirmed.

Two ex-prohibition agents in Jersey City, John F. Downs, and Leroy Davis, convicted in lower courts of accepting bribes for "protecting" liquor law violators, also were beneficiaries of the court's severity in liquor law cases. Their convictions and sentences were upheld.

Transportation Case Upheld.

In a case from Nashville, Tenn., where J. H. Mosely was convicted of transporting liquor and appealed his case on the ground the search was illegal, the court decided against him and upheld the officers.

Re-argue Business "Secrets" Case

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 20.—The controversial question of whether the Federal Trade Commission has the right to require business concerns Kimball Young, actress, reported to cost of production, balance sheets and other business "secrets" was today ordered reargued in the United States Supreme court, November 2, next.

The issue is held to involve the life of the commission, as a restriction of its powers would greatly lessen its scope. The particular case involved is that of the Clair Furnace Company and was ordered reargued because some of the present justices were not on the bench at the time of its initial argument.

Dodge's Car Recovered.

Harry P. Dodge, organist at the St. James M. E. Church, found his Flint sedan missing after the church services Sunday evening and reported the theft to police headquarters. About 10 o'clock that evening Officer Burger found the car abandoned on Pine street.

Earthquake Cooled Water

Water in the bay of Tokyo is colder this year than last, according to observers of the Marine Products institute, the earthquake of last September being blamed for a marked drop in temperature. The lower temperature of water along the coasts near Tokyo is expected to handicap such industries as fishing for shellfish and gathering seaweeds, in which the workers are obliged to spend hours standing in water.

Assault Case in County Court

Defendant Admits She May Have Cut Another Woman In Stomach, But Did So In Self Defense—Three Defendants Arraigned—One Pleads Guilty.

In county court this morning John Harding, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of having a pistol concealed upon his person without a permit, was arraigned and through his attorney, Chris J. Flanagan, entered a plea of not guilty. He was admitted to bail.

Addison Stratton, charged by the grand jury with leaving the scene of an accident without giving necessary information, was also arraigned and pleaded not guilty. F. C. Merritt appeared for him.

Lamas Sleight of Brooklyn, charged with operating a motor vehicle in the city of Kingston on November 9 last while intoxicated, was arraigned and entered a plea of guilty. His license was revoked, he was fined $200 to be paid to the state of New York and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail, the jail sentence being suspended during good behavior and on the further condition that he pay to the county of Ulster $100 to defray the cost of prosecution. He paid.

The assault case which was adjourned last Friday morning was taken up. Caroline Ascarini, the defendant, took the stand and denied that she had cut one Marie Martini. She claimed that Marie had fallen on some bottles and had been cut. She said on cross-examination that there had been an argument over something and that Marie took a knife and cut defendant. Defendant said she took knife away and may have cut Marie in the stomach. She admitted that afterward she had taken Marie by the hair and dragged her into another room. She said Marie had cut her first and that she acted in self defense when she took away the knife. The trouble, she said, came over a charge of too friendly relations with the complainant's husband.

The complaining witness on the other hand claimed she was attacked by Mrs. Ascarini and cut after Mrs. Ascarini charged her with being too friendly with Mr. Ascarini.

The case was continued in the afternoon.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Training School of American Generals

It is doubtful if any other post in the United States has known as many of our famous military leaders as Jefferson Barracks, Mo. When Jefferson Davis became secretary of war in 1853 he determined to form a regiment which would be the best in the army. Remembering the tradition of the army, which, from the close of the War of 1812 had sent to Jefferson Barracks the most promising young officers in the army, he organized at that post the Second cavalry, later known as "Jeff Davis' pet."

The colonel of the regiment was Albert Sidney Johnston and its lieutenant-colonel was Robert E. Lee, destined for fame as two of Davis' greatest Civil war generals. At the same time there was organized there the First regiment of cavalry with Edwin V. Sumner (later a Union general) as colonel and Joseph E. Johnston (of Bull Run fame) as lieutenant-colonel.

In fact these two regiments gave to the Union and Confederate armies no less than 30 generals, among them such men as John Sedgwick, W. J. Hardee, W. H. Emory, George Stoneman, E. D. Baker, "Jeb" Stuart, George H. Thomas Wesley Merritt, Earl Van Dorn and Kirby Smith.

But these are not the only distinguished names on Jefferson Barracks' roll of honor. There, too, appear Henry Leavenworth, Henry Atkinson, Stephen W. Kearney, John C. Fremont, Braxton Bragg, James Longstreet, Ulysses S. Grant, William Tecumseh Sherman, Philip Sheridan, Winfield Scott Hancock and Nathan Boone, a son of the famous Kentucky pioneer.

Jefferson Barracks also saw organized the original "rough riders" long before the days of Theodore Roosevelt and San Juan hill. During President Van Buren's administration the Seminole Indians became troublesome and the President asked the governor of Missouri to raise two regiments of mounted Missourians, frontiersmen all, to serve against the Seminoles. From all parts of the state these horsemen poured in to St. Louis and under the leadership of General Gentry and Col. John W. Price they were organized at Jefferson Barracks and acquitted themselves brilliantly in Florida.

Jefferson Barracks was established in 1826, as Cantonment Adams (in honor of President John Quincy Adams), and during its existence of nearly a century has been an important military rendezvous in all of Uncle Sam's wars from the Mexican to the World war.

FREE RADIO

S E E O U R W I N D O W S

Here's a real opportunity! One that may bring to you all the pleasure that comes to those who "listen in" on a radio.

You have the opportunity of possessing a Cleartone Radio Receiving Set! The cabinet is of solid mahogany—a beautiful piece of furniture. The selectivity of this set is remarkable, and distant stations can be distinctly heard on a loud speaker with plenty of volume.

The details of how you may become the owner of this Radio Set can be secured at our store on Tuesday, April 21st. And at the same time you will have the opportunity to witness a very interesting demonstration of Lowe Brothers Paints and Varnishes.

DEMONSTRATION
Paints—Lowe Brothers—Varnishes
Tuesday, April 21st

Do you know that a wall finished with Lowe Brothers Mello-Gloss, a liquid oil paint, can be washed—even free of grease—with surprising ease? Visit our demonstration—we'll show you how easily it is done.

At our demonstration, you will see Neptunite Varnish subjected to severe abuse and, yet, never turn white. We'll even iron a wet towel until dry on a varnished surface to show the wear-resistance of Neptunite Varnish.

Let us show you with one sweep of the brush you can stain and varnish your furniture, woodwork or floors with Lowe Brothers Varnish Stain.

Painting Advice
A representative of The Lowe Brothers Company will be with us to offer painting advice, in addition to making practical demonstrations of Lowe Brothers Paints and Varnishes. His expert knowledge of painting problems will be at your disposal. Consult him about your work.

Decorative Service
If you have any particular work in mind, we can secure from the Decorative Department of The Lowe Brothers Company color suggestions adapted to your individual requirements. This service is free and it will be a real help in planning the decoration of your home. Ask about it.

Don't miss the demonstration and the opportunity to become the owner of this Free Radio Set

A CHANGE THAT IS VERY GRATIFYING

When the KINGSTON DEALERS' USED CAR EXCHANGE, Inc., opened its doors two weeks ago, almost every customer asked us,

"WHAT IS YOUR LOWEST PRICE?"

Today our buying public has learned that we have

ONE PRICE TO ALL

This is indeed gratifying because it indicates that our customers realize that they all receive the same fair treatment—that the prices displayed on the windshield are the only prices.
